In one respect this city is particularly blessed. Wood is pleatiful and at prive ranging from $2.50 to $3.35 per cord so no one who has money will soiler to receive the winter. As to coal, the stock has never been as low in the history of the city. There are not over ten tone altogether in the bins of the dealers here and with little probability at present of getting a supply. Many of our citizens have lost ranging from two to five tons left over from last winter and several went into the market early in the season and bought a supply. Later a number have purchased special coal to be used in grates and formees adapted to this coal.

Representatives of the two foundries state they have sufficient soft and hard coal to run them until January 1st. The churches will be the greatest sufferers the stock on hand is very small. The Baptist and Catholic have none; St. ticorge's, 5 tons; Methodist, 5 kgns; Traity, I ton; and the Presbyterian, 2 tons. Whether they can use soft coal is a question and it has been suggested if there is no relief, that the supply ke combined and Linion services held during the winter in one large church. Our stove dealers are busy selling air-tight and other kinds of wood stoves, and oil stoves are in great demand. The stock of wood in our wood, yards is very large and there are thousands of cords along the rail roads and water-courses awaiting ship ment. So no one is in danger offreezing, however cold the winter may be.
